

My project proposal is predicting the amount of blackjacks(21) that are hit at the end of an 8 deck deal, between the player and the dealer. I feel this would be a good proposal for a project because we can use a few different columns/rows to base our prediction, by using a number of python methods learned in the course.